Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Jojola tell of their ordeal at the hands of a gunman who killed himself in their South San Francisco apartment Thursday. The interview was held at South San Francisco City Hall. They were credited by police with keeping things cool during the tension.

South San Francisco police officers lost more than a few hours sleep when a gunman held three persons hostage in an apartment March 16.

While officers stood guard at the barricaded neighborhood, their thoughts were wandering to corned beef and cabbage. The Police Officers Association's annual St.

Patrick's Day dinner apparently wasn't blessed with the luck of the Irish this year. Many officers had expected to attend the feast at Nellie's Restaurant on El Camino Real.

But, Nellie said, only a few of the retired officers showed up for the dinner, and even they were concerned about the events that were occur-

The POA has been having the dinner at her restaurant for years, she said. But Wednesday night, just wasn't the same.

'It was a beautiful dinner," she said. The tables had been decorated with lepre-chauns, shamrocks and green tablecloths.

A few officers, Nellie said, gathered up some of the food in bags and brought it out to the officers on the street and in the station.

And, worst of all, the night's work cost the Police Officers Association $400 for a corned beef and cabbage dinner that never happened.

the long siege.

The weary couple, still wearing the clothes they had on when they were rescued, met with report-ers Thursday at South San Francisco City Hall.

Antonio Jojola, 54, and his wife, Pauline, 60, were trapped in their apartment from noon Wednesday to 3 a.m. Thursday while Guile waved his two automatic weapons at them. Earlier reports said that Jojola had been wounded by a police bullet but this proved in error.

The incident attracted scores of reporters and photographers and more than 100 officers to the city's Pecks Lots area where Guile had cornered the couple in their apartment at 150 Gardiner Ave. Guile, a San Quentin parolee, was one of three suspects who fled the scene of an armed robbery at a Brisbane pharmacy Wednesday morning.

Earlier, police said the hostage couple's last name was Gomez However, it was explained Thursday that when Guile asked the couple their name, Antonio blurted out the first one that came to mind rather than his own.
Mrs. Jojola said she had seen Guile in the yard with a gun outside her apartment when the incident began.

She heard a knock on the door and went to the kichen.
"I asked who it was and he said, 'Police, open up,' Mrs. Jojola recalled. Although the chain on her door was fastened, she opened the door just a bit and Guile burst through.

In his arms he was carrying 19-month-old Jose Jimenez.

"He said he was scared and there was a lot of shooting at the time," Mr. Jojola said.

She said she recognized that he was the man who had been outside with the gun, escaping police.

Guile told the couple he grabbed the baby because he found it alone in a crib in an apartment upstairs.
The baby's mother, it was learned, had left the baby while she went to a nearby store.

'He told us to keep calm and we wouldn't get hurt."
Mrs. Jojola said. "At first when he came in, he wouldn't let go of the

But, she pointed out to Guile that the baby's diapers needed changing and he finally handed the child to her. While she was holding the baby, she said, she felt safe. But when the baby was released at about 9 p.m., she began to feel that she could be shot.

"All the time he was there, he was very nice," she said. "But toward the end I was thinking that maybe he was going to shoot us.

All through the evening, the diabetic Guile shot insulin, provided by police, into his veins. He also took Mrs. Jojola's own pain

About an hour before Guile shot himself, he asked Mrs. Jojola for a paper bag and a pen. He wrote the name and phone number of his wife on the outside of the bag and stuffed the gun inside, she recalled.

"He said, 'I want you to give this gun to my wife',"
Mrs Jojola related.
She asked him to take the bullets out and he did. Then he stuffed the package in her flour bin.

Antonio, an Army veteran, said the captor laughed frequently during the siege. He told the couple he didn't want to go back to prison and he called penal institutions cesspools." Guile was on WHES IS THE DIAMOND -See HOSTAGES, Page 11

A Potpourri of Questions

Questions, questions, questions. Frank Colby said that there is no excuse for the continuance of a person without a question in his heart. So what's your question?

Where can I find what ecologists think about politicat issues?

A place to start is The Sierra Club Committee on Political Education. This group was organized by the Sierra Club to provide information and educational materials about political candidates and issues. From time to time it publishes some of its findings in the Sierra Club Bulletin. For example in the September issue of the Bulletin, published a chart presenting both Jimmy Carter's and Gerald Ford's positions on questions of conservation.

How many people came on the ship that brough the Pilgrims to America? How many were members of the Pilgrim's church?

The answer is rather complicated. But here goes. There were 99 passengers aboard the Mayflower. Forty-one were members of the Pilgrim's church; 40 were not. Besides these people, there were five hired hands and 18 servants. Of these 99 persons, 45 were men; 20 were women and 34 were children.

One of the best books about the Pilgrims that has ever been published is "Saints and Strangers" by George F. Willison. First printed in 1945, it has gone through many printings and has been widely read

Who said, "Scratch a Christian and you'll find a spoiled pagan?"

The answer is Israel Zangwill. What he said was Scratch the Christian and you find the pagan — spoiled." Zangwill was an English dramatist and novelist. The quotation comes from his piece entitled, "Children of the Ghetto."

Has a third party ever received more than 20 per cent of the votes cast for President?

According to the "World Almanac" since 1860, there have been only four elections in which all third parties together polled more than 10 per cent of the vote: the Populists (James Baird Weaver) in 1892, the National Progressives (Theodore Roosevelt) in 1912, the La Follette Progressives in 1924, and George Wallace's Ameri-

Reg. 18.50

Samuel Chandler

(Henry Wallace's Progressives) and Strom Thurmond's Dixiecrats and others received only five per cent of the vote. The only successful third party candidate in history was Abraham Lincoln who ran as a Republican when that party was yet considered a third party

"Where can I find a list of the calories in foods?
In a U.S. document known as the "Home and Garden Bulletin No. 72" from the U.S. Department of Agriculture. It may be obtained from the government bookstore at 450 Golden Gate Ave. For a quick glance, you can find a chart in the "World Almanac" that is entitled "Nutritive Value of Foods."

The first place to look for the answer to your questions is the nearest branch of the public library. At public expense, libraries employ trained reference librarians whose chief delight in life is help you get the answer you seek These librarians have at their finger tips the services of organizations which link the collections of nearly all the public, university, school and special libraries in the Bay Area. Through the miracles of teletype and other means of communications, a reference librarian can get the answer to your question even if it is in a library that is miles away munity will have an oppor-tunity to hear Johann Sebastian Bach's music offered by some of northern California's most outstanding young artists when the 24th annual Junior Bach Festival begins on March 23 at Hertz Hall on the U.C. Berkeley Campus. Presented in a series of five concerts, the festival will continue with two con-certs at St. John's Presby-terian Church in Berkeley Thursday and Friday, March 26 and 27, at 8 p.m. The festival will return to Hertz Hall for the final two concerts, Saturday, March 26 at 8 p.m. and Sunday, March 27 at 2 p.m.

Prominent musicians from the Bay Area served as judges at the February auditions at which performers were selected. Those who will be performing from San Mateo County are Noriko Sasaki and Lori Leong, pirnos; Cindy Campbell, cello; Kathryn Stenberg, violin; and Eric Morris, voice.

Programs offer a variety of solo and ensemble works for keyboard, string and woodwindinstruments as well as organ and vocal works. For further information write Junior Bach Festival Association, P.O. Box 590, Berkeley, 94701.

Medieval Mystery Plays

To celebrate the Lenten season, the Young Conservatory of American Conservatory Theatre of San Francisco will present seven of the Medieval Mystery Plays this Sunday evening at 7:30 p.m. at the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church, 377 - 87th St., Daly

City.
These plays, created by craftsmen, 13th century craftsmen, depict the life of Christ from the story of John the Baptist continuing through The Conspiracy, The Buf-feting, The Scourging, The Crucifixion and ending triumphantly with The Harrowing of Hell.

The presentation is one-and-one-half hours. A young person of the local church, Steve Powers, is in three of these plays. An offering will be taken in support of the expenses of these plays

Licenses Revoked

The State Department of Real Estate has revoked the real estate licenses of the former president and four sales representatives of Investors Research International (IRI), a brokerage firm engaged in the sale of raw land in California's Antelope Valley.

IRI had offices in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Sacramento and San Jose The firm employed over 250 salespersons and sold more than 2,000 parcels land with a total purchase price of more than $20 million. It was found to have violated the Department's regulations on the sale of land for investment poten-

American-Spanish Summer Exchange

"Temporary Parents" are needed in the Bay Area for 40 high school students who will be visiting here this summer from Spain.

The Fathers of the Holy Family from Barcelona, Spain, are the directors of this student exchange group, and two priests will accompany the students.

For 13 years, the Fathers of the Holy Family have been active in foreign exchange student programs in Spain, France and England, as well as in the U.S.

The Spanish teenage boys and girls, aged from 12 to 16, will attend summer programs at various Bay thon. The program, held during March, increases children's learning skills while they obtain sponsors for each book they read. Proceeds go toward multiple sclerosis research.

Area schools as well as Sunset High School in the mornings

According to Frank Jacques, American coordinator of this group, the students will be here July through mid-August, staying in the homes of local parents. They will take excursions once a week throughout California, paid for by the program

The same foreign exchange student program will be offered this summer for American youths, aged 12 to 16, who want to go to Spain for a summer study program, from Aug. 1 through Sept. 5.

All-inclusive cost per student is $1,000. Students who are not fluent in Spanish are placid in bi-lingual

March 14, hours after Guile died of a self-inflicted gunshot wound, South San Francisco and Brisbane police entered the apartment on Guerrero Street, near Market Street.

Inside the apartment, Detective Sgts. Jack Rhodes of South San Fran-eisco and John Majka and Al Duerson of Brisbane, found two semi-automatic rifles, an automatic "P-38" pistol, ski masks, rubber gloves and rope.

Just two days before the recent robbery of the Hillside Pharmacy in Brisbane — an episode that ended with the arrest of two men, the wounding of a sheriff's deputy and the death of Guile - Larry Crawford moved into that same apartment.

The 35-year-old Guile had met Crawford, 25, through a mutual acquaintance while both were serving terms in prison.

Police would not disclose the identity of the "acquaintance."

Crawford, an ex-convict who was sentenced to prison on various drug related crimes and burglary, is from Palm Springs, according to Bris-bane Police Sgt. al Duer-

Police from South San Francisco, Brisbane and San Francisco are expected to question both Crawford and Galberth concerning several other armed robberies on the Peninsula, it was learned.

Crawford and Galberth are charged with armed robbery and conspiracy.

Crawford was arraigned this morning in North County Municipal Court in South San Francisco. Bail was set at $100,000 by aparts tages.

Six months ago, Michael Crawford pleaded not Shane Guile rented an guilty to the charges. A guilty to the charges. A preliminary hearing has been scheduled at 2 p.m. March 31 in the South San Francisco court.

Crawford was represented today by Dek Ketchum, a Burlingame attorney.

The other defendant, Galberth, was reported to be in a local hospital. He was said to be suffering from a spleen malady. The district attorney's office wants to arraign him by Monday, whether he is out of the hospital or not.

According to police, Galberth was armed with a .357 Magnum at one point during the Thursday incident. The weapon was found in bushes in a Cardinal found in bushes in a Gardiner Street yard where Galberth was apprehended by police.

The trio were chased by Officer Morgan Fay from Brisbane after they allegedly held up a drug store there and fled with some $700 in cash and a paper bag full of "second class"

After abandoning their getaway car in South San Francisco, the three men fled in different directions - Galberth into a yard where he was soon captured without incident, and Guile and Crawford into an apartment building.

Shortly before 4 p.m Guile exchanged gunfire with SWAT team officer Bill Britschgi, wounding him in the throat

A bulletproof vest is credited with saving the lawman's life.

Minutes later, Crawford was flushed out of the roof-top apartment by SWAT and taken to a first-floor apartment. There he was reportedly questioned on the identity of the third man, barricaded in another apartment with three hos-

Is the Bullfrog Doomed?

Several years ago, Dr. Gordon Simmons was living in a Belmont apartment. He had two delightful roommates. Both were frogs. Happily, they stayed in Simmons' bathtub.

When Simmons used the tub, the frogs were moved to the nearby toilet. They enjoyed their life in the apartment. Often, they would honk and holler as frogs are wont to do, causing Simmons' upstairs neighbor to express concern about Simmons' apparent upper respiratory trouble.

Simmons still digs frogs. He lives with more than 300 of them in Fremont. He is hooked on the critters Simmons, an instructor in anatomy and physiology at Redwood City's Canada College, has lately begun research into the habits, life cycles and idiosyncracies of the California bullfrog, a creature which is rapidly becoming an endangered species.

His findings so far have been strictly preliminary. But he has determined that frogs are affected greatly by such things as light, water quality the volume of water and other factors.

At Canada and at his East Bay home, he is busy experimenting daily on the frog. Says he, "I guess I've been interested in frogs since I was

His aim is to find ways to control the growth of the bullfrog. He would like to discover methods to make the frog grow bigger faster. Normally, it takes the frog five years to reach four inches in size. A frog is measured from the tip of his snout to his bottom. His legs don't count.

This is your basic California bullfrog. It lives in a container at Canada College

Legs do count when it comes to restaurants, however. And therein lies one of the problems for the bullfrog population. Frogs' legs are a delicacy, coveted by diners. Simmons says the number of frogs in California has been so depleted that most restaurants don't have them on the menu any

So worried about the future of the bullfrog is the state's Fish and Game Department that it has banned the hunting and trapping of the creature.

According to Simmons, it isn't just the gourmand who is responsible for the shortage of frogs either. Research institutions are too. Frogs are a common subject for experimentation and testing in a variety of scientific fields Additionally, as delta land in the lush San Joaquin Valley is gradually reclaimed for housing, frogs are find ing it tough to find comfortable homes

The drought hasn't helped the frog at all. Simmmons says a lot of the favorite ponds and waterways of bullfrogs have become either non-existent or inadequate for them. "The drought really hurts them," he says.

"About five years ago, frogs started to become harder to get in California. I am interested in finding out why. I want to learn more. A female frog will lay up to 25,000 eggs. Now, only 50 to 75 of those eggs actually mature into an adult frog. It used to be more like 500 to 700.

Simmons says there has been little recent work on the frog. "He has been pretty much ignored since 1922. Most of that literature on the frog is erroIn a year of research, Simmons has found that he can stimulate the frog's maturation by using constant light. This can significantly cut down the time it takes the immature tadpole to grow into a full-blown frog. Simmons -See BULLFROGS, Page 18

THE TIMES

Le Pacini

(Second of two parts)

(We return to the story of Jim Soden, coach of the Terra Nova High School girls' basketball team. The rise of this team is a microcosm of a condition spreading across the country.)

On a particularly frustrating day, Soden was about to throw the towel in when Becky Meyers' parents arrived to enroll her in school and asked if she might join the team.

Becky, it turned out, had played on her varsity team as a freshman, and has, "as good a basketball instinct as any boy on my team," confesses Bresnahan. Not to mention a soft-touch jump shot that, notes Soden, "went in as well as any boy's jump shot in the league."

Thus did Becky Meyers, the transfer from Cayuga, Indiana, seven times hit for over 20 points, including two record 29 point bursts, and go on to shatter all TN girls' scoring records with an average 18.7 points per game.

BECKY WASN'T just a scorer. An unselfish player, she created "situations," thus leading the team in assists, while her quick hands accounted for an average of five steals a game. Needless to say, Meyers was chosen on the first team NPL All-League squad.

So was Moe Turner, who may be an even more improbable story than Meyers. Moe, at 5-9, was easily the team's leading rebounder with 13.3 a game (team record), the second leading scorer behind Meyers (15 overall, 17.1 in league play, actually higher than Meyers 16.5), had the best free throw percentage (70.1), and was a close third on the team in assists and steals. Perhaps even more important than the statistics was the fact that Turner was the team leader, the player the others went to in tough situations, the cool head.

"If the league had chosen a most valuable player, she would have been it," claims Soden.
And yet Turner had never played basketball before

NOW, SINCE the advent of Title IX, the federal law which ensures that there will be no sex discrimination in educational programs receiving federal financial assistance, college athletic programs for girls are opening up, and Moe is getting scholarship offers.

With Becky Meyers and Moe Turner providing the fire-power the Tigers needed to turn from a team that averaged 30 points a game last year to 52.1 this year, the rest of the team fell into place for coach Jim Soden. But it was never easy. After TN dropped two straight early season league games, he got desperate and shaved offwhat had been a carefully nurtured beard. "It was worth it. We won the next six," says Soden, now down to a

The two returning varsity players, sophomore Terri Campbell and junior Gail Cox, had excellent season. The 6-1 Campbell averaged 10 rebounds a game, and was chosen Honorable Mention on the All League team, while Cox became the quarterback, moving the team, playing JILL LUCCHETTI, a sophomore up from the JVs who Soden felt was his best defensive guard, could also move the ball, and inadvertently proved the depth of the Tiger bench when she injured her right ankle in the early league season, which caused her t miss four games. It isn't easy to replace a player who was to make 2nd team All-League. But Soden moved in 5'10" Patti Juergens, another sophomore from the JVs, and she displayed exceptional quickness, aggressiveness, and a keen bas-ketball instinct, began blocking shots and ended up the team's third leading rebounder.

Dayna Dias, a junior from the JVs, was also an important player off the bench, frequently coming in for Cox and Meyers. She tied for second on the team in Indicative of the spirit of the team were the three players who got in a total of only 10 league games among them, but who were always ready when called upon — Debbi Bolton (senior from the JVs), Teri Calvin (sophomore) and Theresa Macalolooy (freshman). Bolton was told by Soden that she had little chance of making the team, or, once making it, wouldn't play much. She accepted this and hustled to make the squad.

Even though the Tigers failed to make the Central Coast Section Region I playoffs when they were knocked off in a tough 64-59 overtime game to South City in the NPL playoffs, Soden is happy and proud of his girls.

They showed character which, in the old fashioned concept of the values of sports, is what a coach is supposed to teach. They did a lot of hard work on their After they had lost a heart-breaker to Westmoor on the last game of the regular season, in which a win would have given them the NPL title, they bounced back to beat the Rams in the first game of the playoffs. And when they lost to South City and Dias was asked by classmates why they had lost, she offered no excuses and, over a broken heart and through clenched teeth, she replied, "We lost because they played better than we

SODEN SAYS that there are six of his kids -Meyers, Turner, Cox, Lucchetti, Campbell and Juergens whom he feels will eventually play college basketball. Soden also warns, for better or worse, that with Title IX, things may never be the same in girls "For years everybody assumed that girls' sports was different, that girls played just for the recreation of it, or because they were ugly and couldn't get boyfriends, that they just weren't that competitive ... you know, all of the cliches, the old stereotypes.

'It was also assumed that the public wouldn't go out of its way to watch female athletes. But the past two years have proven to me that this is all bunk

"Look at the crowds that turn out to see women play pro tennis; for example. Women's basketball has big in the Midwest for years. Now there's talk about forming a woman's professional basketball league.

"We drew more and more fans as the season went on. There's already talk of having mixed playoffs in the near future. That is, having both boys' and girls' playoffs on the same nights. Why? Because the powers that be are already smelling the added income. After all, girls have relatives and family friends and boyfriends who like to watch them play, just like the boys have family and girl friends who watch them.

"WITH TITLE IX, there will be more and more scholarships offered to girls to play sports, which will in turn put pressure on them to perform well at the high school level, which will put pressure on coaches to teach winning.

And though Soden wouldn't mention it, the pressure And inough soden wouldn't mention it, the pressure of winning in girls' sports is no different than the pressure of winning at any level. It's all a microcosm of what is the best and the worst of sports: the excitement, and the exhilaration, and the urgency to win because there are so many people rooting for you, and because the profits could be so great. And simply because, in our society, winning is much more socially acceptable than Soden confesses that just before the South City game, something happened to him that had never occurred even in his playing days.

"I was out on the court and the kids were warming up, and I was standing there, and all of a sudden I found myself saying to myself, 'Well, what do I do now? What in the hell am I doing out here?' My mind had gone blank."

How Trojan Cagers Upset the Script

By FRED BAER

Times Correspondent
FRESNO — The script for the state championship basketball game seemed simple.

High-scoring Mt. San Jacinto and two-time defending champion Butte would both win their first-round games, and then MSJ, the nation's topscoring JC team would take away Butte's crown in the finals.

But Skyline College wouldn't play its role in that script.

And Skyline wound up with the small college division championship of the California Community College Basketball tournament.
The Trojans put a crushing end to MSJ's 21-game win streak, 92-84, Saturday night after ending Butte's division record five-game tournament win skein in Friday's semifinals.

"I don't believe it," said Skyline freshman guard Ted Scott. "It's somuch . . . how 11 guys can get together so long (since September) sowell. It's just a fairy tale."

Two hours later — after Cypress downed Santa Barbara 78-75 for the large division title at Selland Arena -Scott was surprised twice more.

He joined backcourt teammate Dave Davis, the small division's Outstanding Player, on the all-tourney team. And then Scott was presented the Sunkist award as the combined tournament's most inspirational

But Scott provided more than inspiration, tallying 21 points in the first half as the Trojans got off to a 47-38 lead, and finishing with a career-high

Davis wound up with 31 points. He had scored the final eight points against Butte, and tallied the final nine against MSJ. When Skyline went to a delay game toward the end, Davis had the crowd ooohing and aaahing with his flamboyant ballhandling.

The small Trojan front, led by Adams and Jerry McNeil, got superior position and used superior hustle for a 55-45 rebounding edge.
And the Trojans whipped MSJ at its own game.

Mt. San Jacinto had been averaging 107.4 points a game, running and shooting. Skyline had led the small division colleges in defense, giving up only 63.8. So what did Skyline do? Beat MSJ at the running game.

Forward Joe Adams hit the first shot of the game for Skyline. And Skyline never trailed.

Zipping past screens in their basic offense, the Trojans got all kinds of good shots, and hit 50 per cent from the floor.

Defensively, the Trojans' 2-3 zone worked wonders. Davis and Scott, playing out front, cooled off Gerald Sims, MSJ's 6-5 guard front Detroit. Sims had been the state's leading scorer at a 28-per-game clip. He hit only 14 from the point, 5-for-19, against Skyline.

As a team MSJ threw up 96 shots - but hit on only 35.

MSJ did challenge once in the second half. With 15:00 to go, forward Thomas Williams dropped in a third the second half. Williams dropped in a third the second half. straight MSJ layup to close the gap to

But 6-5 Skyline center Mark Felix, who hadn't been happy about being robbed of a bucket on an offensive foul call moments before, cashed in from the free throw line at the other end to force in an offensive tip. Reserve Jim Donovan then pumped in a couple of shots from the top of the key and Skyline was up 62-54.

MSJ never got closer than four the rest of the way.

Said Davis, "They overplayed us so much that if you beat your man you had an easy layup. We have some good layup plays. They play so tight belly up that you can go inside."

MSJ's defense did make Skyline work, though. "I was tired," said "Sometimes I needed those time outs (including the stoppages for 49 fouls). They play such tough defense their man on our men outside so we could run double sideline plays.''

The bench helped Skyline. Donovan had a bad knee, but got some timely buckets. Forward Tom Helmers, overlooked much of the season, played perhaps his most aggressive game when Felix was in foul trouble.

'Helmers came off the bench and played an important few minutes, said Skyline Coach Lyle Newcomer Though he has hardly played for us.

"I think we deserved to win. We played hard. We practice hard." Davis echoed those sentiments. "We don't have excessive talent, no size," he said. "No one's out for all the points. If your bench isn't putting out in practice you don't get tough. Evervone contributed.' The tournament has been going strong since 1973. Either Menlo of Skyline has made it to the finals each year. Now each has a state title

(Menlo won in 1974). Skyline was the only Northern California team to make it to the finals this year in either MT. SAN JACINTO 84

Knights and Falcons Win Hillsdale High won with ease and Crestmoor won with a scare in non-league baseball games Monday. The Knights ripped visiting Serramonte 14-0 and the Falcons edged visiting McAteer (SF) at San Bruno Park, 6-5, in eight innings.

Serramonte managed only one hit off four Hillsdale pitchers. Starter Bob Harrison went four innings and got the win for the Knights. Hillsdale shoved home six runs in the first inning, three on a home run by Jeff Pyburn.

Crestmoor got a solid relief effort from left-hander Jon Gibbons, who pitched the final four innings and recorded seven strikeouts. The Falcons won it in the last of the eighth when Mark Hansen singles, stole second and scored on Tony Bolla's base hit to straightaway center field Crestmoor, finished its non-league season at 4-3; Hillsdale is 6-5. In Mid-Peninsula League openers Wednesday, Crestmoor plays at Mills, Capuchino visits Hillsdale and Burlingame meets Aragon in 3 p.m. games.

national JC pole vault record of 17-1 by West Valley College soph Steve Oravetz couldn't prevent College of San Mateo's powerful track team from recording an impressive double dual victory Satur-

In fact, the Bulldogs broke their oldest school record in the process as Hillsdale grad Hugh Eden triple jumped 46-21/2. That bettered the 46-0 standard set by Connie Verneck in 1939 and ironically tied just last Monday by Andy Gustayson.

However, Eden placed only fourth Saturday with West Valley Mike Willis (47-1) leading the usual Santa Clara Valley dominance of the event.

But there were few other CSM shortcomings as the Bulldogs smacked host West Valley, 89-56, and De Anza, 93-52. West Valley edged De Anza, 73-72.

There was one unfortunate note — Mike Smith, CSM's outstanding fresh-man shot putter from San Mateo High, will have torn hand ligaments surgically repaired today, according to Bulldog coach Bob Rush, and be lost for the season.

Smith, who has thrown 52-3½ already this season, hopes to regain the year of eligibility since he competed in only one league meet, Rush noted. San Mateo won everything on the track Saturday except the 100 meters and the 400 relay (dropped baton). Soph distance ace Mitch

Kingery posted another impressive double, winning leading Shay Sodek (1:56.7) and Brian Hurdal (1:56.9). CSM now has five halfmilers under 1:58 and Brian Currey at 1:58.1 (sixth Saturday in that time).

Transfer Skip Peterson figured in three wins for the Bulldogs, the 200 (22.3), long jump (22-101/4) and anchor on the 3:22.8 mile relay. Quartermile winner Bob Foulke (48.5), Sherrin and Gary Davis completed the mile quartet. Soph Mark Gerkensmeyer won the 110 meter high hurdles for CSM in 15.5 and ran second in the 400 intermediates in 56.5 to teammate

Correspondent El Camino High's pitching staff ran its scoreless string to 43 consecutive innings Friday as Rich Bordi shut out visiting Half Moon Bay 6-0 in a North Peninsula league baseball opener.

In other NPL action Terra Nova blanked Westmoor 1-0, Jefferson edged Serramonte 6-5 and Oceana nipped South San Francisco 4-3.

El Camino's impeccable pitching crew stretched its shutout streak to six straight games as Bordi struck out 11 and allowed only two hits en route to his third consec-

Centerfielder Dan O'Regan led off the contest with a base hit to get the Colts rolling. Rick Doran then provided EC with all the offense that they needed by homering over the leftfield fence.

Doran finished with two hits and four runs-batted-in to pace Camino. Jean Donalaya added three hits, including two

Terra Nova's Gordon Shirley struck out 10 and yielded five hits in blanking the Rams. Terra Nova had only two hits but won the game in the sixth on an unearned

Bill Dameri opened up the sixth with a base hit for the Tigers. Eddie Pulanco went into pinch run for Dameri and advanced to second on a wild pitch. He then came home when Dave Luhrs' sacrifice bunt was thrown away for a two-base Jeff Jones picked up Jefferson's win and added two hits. Rick Rodriguez backed Jones' effort with three hits.

Serramonte's Jim Poulos pitched well for the Regents, fanning 12 batters in going the distance. Poulos allowed only two earned runs.

Craig Garrity had two hits and a pair of RBI's for the Regents.

Oceana's Jeff Nelson won his own game in the bottom of the sixth with a run-scoring double. It was his second twobase hit of the contest

South City jumped out to an early 3-1 lead, but the Sharks struck for two runs in the fifth to set the stage for Nelson's

Boys' Basketball League Results

The Daly City Recrea-tion Department's boys basketball leagues concluded play last weekend. The final results were as follows:

Fourth Grade Western The Holy Angels Trojans and PAL Cheetahs tied for first place with each team winning their final contest. The Trojans edged OLM 6-5 while the Cheetahs dumped BYA 17-4, Carlos Tejeda and Paul Bugler led Holy Angels while Mike Zimmerman and Pat Hovt paced the Cheetahs. In other action, OLM edged SAL 16-14 led by Kevin McNutty's eight points and Bill Cilco's two points. Kerit Harris' 10 points led SAL to a 10-5 win over OLM

Fourth Grade Eastern St. Thomas More cap-tured the title with a thrilling 8-6 win over the PAL Shamrocks in overtime Tony Fretty (four points) and Kjell Svenson (two points and super defense) led St. Thomas More. Aaron Grittel canned six points for PAL.

Fourth Grade Northern The Scots clinched the crown with an 18-12 victory. Martin Johnson (10 points), Eric Colic (two points) and Terry Smith (four points) led the way for the title-bound Scots.

Match Westlakers: 0, Club

America: 2.

The adage: A game is not won until the final whistle has been blown should be well remembered by the Westlaker team from Daly The Westlakers attacked constantly during the first half, but to no avail as each of many scoring chances was missed.

Besides, a score after a beautiful dribble from the halfway mark by Teresa Abrahamsohn was nullified, because one of her co players stood in an offside position. A scoring free kick by Marc Bucciarelli was disallowed for the same reason.

The second half was highlighted by two breakaway goals from Club America as they outran the Westlaker backs forcing Tim Short, their goalie to rush out of his goal, but to no avail. The Westlakers ended the game with three more scoring chances, each missed, however. For the Westlakers, Tim Short in goal was reliable as usual; as midfielder Teresa Abrahamsohn played a standout game moving all over the field to back up the defense, and setting up forward passes Marc Bucciarelli had good ball control and effective midfield play in the first half. Nick Macchi on the wing worked hard despite his lack of speed. The Wes-tlakers tired badly in the second half, as Club America got really moving.

it fears landsliding and subsequent ocean pollution. David Rowe, Daly City's city manager, spoke at the special City Council meeting in favor of the proposal.

EXPLAINING that the transfer station would be operated by the city and the Daly City Scavenger Co., he said the station should not hinder the proposed future development of a coastside park.

In fact, the park area
"would be released at an earlier date for develop-ment," he said.

The city's Planning Commission, which last week approved the use permit, cautioned that special care should be taken to screen the transfer station from the adjacent park area because of potential noise and odor problems. Rowe said there is no other suitable site for the transfer station, with the exception of the 10-acre former Edgemar School site in Pacifica.

"It appears unlikely that the City of Pacifica would authorize use of the Edge-mar site;" Rowe said.

Because of the vehement protests of nearby resi-dents, Pacifica City Coun-cil members have said they would not vote for the Edgemar site as a location for the station.

Steve Street, director of community development for Pacifica, spoke to confirm the unavailability of the Edgemar site. Street said Pacifica is of course, very much in favor of the Mussel Rock

The proposed transfer station would include a 2.000 square foot building for transferring garbage. About 190 tons of garbage would be processed each

• Decided to consider at the next meeting a use permit for construction of a commercial, multi-family development at School Street. Council requested that city officials meet with the architect to answer some concerns by residents on the same street.

• Instructed the city ity of ice cream venders who substitute candy for change to susceptible youngsters. Several mothers complained to council.

Although all this gear, including

He calls his setup at Canada "a low budget show." But from that he hopes that some helpful findings can be produced in the next several years.

He says his work can have value in terms of both ecology and commerce. The frog is an important creature in nature's chain of life and on the dis-secting tables of schools and the dinner tables of the Far West.

By LIN DAY Thirty-eight speakers went to the microphone recently in Redwood City to tell the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers what to do about the proposed Pillar of Engineers what Point Marina project.

The Army representatives listened and said they will report back soon.

About 85 persons were at the War Memorial Building for the key hearing on the project and more than 60 stayed the full four hours. opinion Audience appeared equally divided, with each side getting applause and each side presenting forceful opinions for or against the project.

At stake was whether the San Mateo County Harbor District, which has accu-mulated $3 million in taxes for the project, can win permission to build the interior breakwaters in the southeast area of Pillar Point Harbor and within them 440 single-tie boat berths, parking facilities for 550 automobiles, a boat repair and storage area. boat launching ramp, com-fort stations and public view platform, as well as fill an area for a future restaurant and chandlery. Those supporting the project, including a number of the harbor district commissioners, pointed out that no money will come from the general public save what already has been

The $3 million, to be swelled to $3.8 million with this year's district tax, is allocated to build commercial fishing facilities, and $3.9 million would be obtained from already approved low-interest loans by the Department of Navigation and Ocean Develop-ment of the State Resources Agency (raised by sales and gas taxes on boaters) as well as through state grants. The latter money would be used to build recreation and berthing facilities and would in turn generate, proponents said, revenue that would make it self-sustaining.

Supporting the project were representatives of the commercial fishing interests of the Coastside, the Pillar Point Boatowners Association, the Operating Engineers Union, a Foster City official and boat own-

John Condon, twice mayor of San Mateo and recently re-elected to the city council, who as head of the Harbor District had helped initiate the project several years ago, spoke firmly for it. A retired U.S. Army colonel himself, he pleaded with the Army to approve it.

The project was pictured as desperately needed, both to save lives (several boaters have died in the area in recent years) and to bring direct and indirect recreation and other benefits to the area

Opposing the project were a large delegation of South County councilmen, representatives of several environmental associations, representatives of several taxpayer associations, representatives of Mid-county and North County homeowner groups and one member of the harbor district commis-Sion.

Mayor James Kilburg of San Carlos said meeting the needs of the small boat owners with protective erths could le of them being killed in the ocean fogs outside.

Mayor Reynolds Smith of Atherton called an environmental impact statement "myopic decision making" and urged bayside marinas as better alternatives.

A Committee for Green Foothills spokesperson, Barrie Ramsay Girard, claimed the project would turn a rural area to an urban one, that financial management was questionable, and that development was not in the interest of commercial fishing.

Others said the location was inaccessible to 85 per cent of the county, that it would be used by the rich with yachts, that environ-mental impact statements were inadequate and out of date, that it would generate another suburban residen-tial community, that it would fill inadequate roads with trailers, that it would tax retired persons who could not use it, and that boaters are a special interest group who alone would profit.

George Neel of Burlingame, who said he didn't own a boat and did not intend to buy one, com-mented of the opposition, We have a strange set of bedfellows here - taxpayer associations and conservationists. We have a vendetta going on between city governments and the Harbor District, and the cost of delay in construc-tion is about $10,000 a day." James Mathis said he bought a boat last year after voting several years ago for the project. "Let's put this project on the road," he said. "A bunch of environmentalists say they represent me. They are blocking me."

second annual Freeway Bike-in will be held March 27 at 10 a.m. at the juncture of Skyline Boulevard and Interstate 280 on the San Francisco Peninsula.

At the juncture the freeway and Skyline merge briefly. Because the freeway is off limits to bicyclists Skyline Boulevard is severed as a bicycle traffic corridor. No bypass route around the freeway is available.

Object of the bike-in is to urge CALTRANS, the state highway agency, to open freeway shoulders to bicyclists for the short distance necessary to restore a through route on Skyline

Sponsors of the event are the San Francisco Bicycle Coalition (SFBC) and the California Association of Bicycling Organizations (CABO). A number of other Bay Area bicyclist organizations have endorsed the bike-in.

Information Policy Chided

By JANET PARKER
Your license plate may reveal more about you than

For 75 cents, the Department of Motor Vehicles will at anyone's request — trace a license plate to its owner providing the owner's name, address and physical Recently, two North County city councils, Pacifica and South San Francisco, adopted resolutions protesting the policy, calling it an "invasion of the privacy of the

They argued that:

Criminals use the information in selecting rape and robbery victims.

Advertisers buy the information in bulk to disseminate "unsolicited junk mail." The information is used to obtain the home addresses of police officers, subjecting them to harassment and possible threats.

The policy, simply stated, "serves no discernible public purpose," according to the resolutions.

South San Francisco Police Chief James Datzman said the resolution was written by a city in Southern California and circulated throughout the state. "It's the kind of thing where the potential problem doesn't dawn on you until you see some other city has recognized the problem and brings it to light," Datzman

Apparently, city officials aren't the only ones concerned about the privacy of individuals.

Many citizen advisory boards of the DMV, called Backseat Driver Panels' — including one in Daly City have asked for revisions in the laws

The California State Assembly Transportation Committee this month began evaluating several bills to control, limit or ban the distribution of vehicle informa-

And, just last week, the DMV took some steps of its

Responding to the concerns like those expressed by the two local city councils, the DMV now requires that requests for information be kept on file for 30 days and the reason stated for making the request.

In addition, information will now be available only by mail. Some DMV offices throughout the state have supplied information on-the-spot by computer, although the Daly City DMV office has always had mail-in procedures that take up to a week.

The DMV according to Asst. Public Information Officer Dan Parker, also will phase-in two more proce-

If someone requests information related to you and your vehicle, the DMV may notify you by mail. And, the DMV also may inform the public through the news media when an advertiser buys the information

Both procedures, Parker said, will be implemented gradually on an experimental basis.

Contrary to the fears of many citizens and law enforcement agencies, Parker said there's a number of good reasons the law exists and no one seems to recognize those.

If your auto is sideswiped by a car in a parking lot, and you're lucky enough to see the fleeting car's license plate, you can track down the culprit's address, Parker

Or, if someone drives a car through your rose garden and a neighbor writes down the license, chances are you can find out where that incompetent driver lives,

Some people, Parkers said, use the information to locate lost relatives. And still others use it to locate old school chums for a class reunion.

The DMV's open files also are used by marketing research companies to compile automobile information for consumers, he said. At any rate, according to Parker, the Public Records Act of 1968 mandates that the information be available. Only the legislature could close those files.

All the DMV can do is regulate the dissemination of the information - by setting fees and guidelines, he

The new laws, Parker said, are just about as far as the DMV can go.
No one, Parkers said, has ever been able to show the DMV how the information has been used for illicit However, Municipal Court Judge F. J. deLarios said that even if an individual were going to use the files for illegal purposes, temporary storage of the information probably wouldn't help law agencies. Most likely, anyone who's going to use the DMV records for devious purposes will use an alias, he said. The fact is, Datzman said, the potential for abuse exists.

"The fact they haven't had any cases come to light of an adverse nature isn't any evidence," Datzman said. "A program of that type runs contrary to everything ople are concerned about," he added.

Parker pointed out that law enforcement agencies and courts obtain the same information through computer terminals apart from the DMV. If information is not available to the public, it will be the exclusive property of police departments and courts, Parker said.

"Let's face it," he said. "If the DMV policy is revised... the fact remains that the information is going to continue to be stored here and some segment of ciety will have access to it."

The benefits of the policy, he said, far outweight any of the drawbacks.

As members of the com-As members of the com-mittee watched, Mayor Albert Teglia and Serra-monte High School student Megan Walker selected block names at random from containers labeled by city area.

Committee chairman Frank Murphy explained that the city's public works department would take the randomly selected city block names and survey the chosen areas.

The areas will be photographed to establish a "baseline of litter," Murphy noted.

Six months and a year later, they will be surveyed again to see if the committee's program has made a difference, he said. The committee, formed last fall, is a division of Keep American Beautiful, a national anti-littering

Radio System Funds

A major step toward implementing a countywide w enforcement radio communications system was taken Wednesday when the Criminal Justice Council approved a $199,507 fed-eral grant application to help pay for a $486,119 Phase II of the three-year

The council last year agreed to allocate over a three-year period about $690,000 in federal grant money to help pay the total $1.3 million bill to modernize the communication sys tems.

The county and cities are paying the balance.

Presently, the police radio communication sys-tems are such that police departments cannot directly communicate with each other, radio frequen-cies are shared and thus congested and car-to-car communication within or outside a city does not exist.

These factors combine to impede the mobility of pol-ice, according to San Mateo Police Sgt Kenneth Brooks.

Woman Aids In Daly City Arrest

An alert cab company employe led to the arrest of a San Francisco man only moments after a Daly City television store was burglarized early today

A Daly City police spokesman said Arthur Rogers, 26. was taken into custody by Sgt. Steve Aurilio after a window at Matthews TV on Mission Street was smashed and several television sets and tape recorders allegedly removed and placed in a nearby car.

The authorities said a woman employe of a cab company, whose office is nearby, watched the alleged

According to police, a man standing in front of Matthews at about 2 a.m. watched several Daly City police units responding with red lights flashing to a call at the Mission Drive-In Theatre on the San Francisco-Daly City border. As soon as the patrol units passed, the man allegedly smashed the store window and removed the equipment, apparently believing all the police cars

But, police explained, Sgt. Aurilio was trailing them in another patrol unit, without lights flashing. At the same time, the cab company employe was calling the police dispatcher about the burglary. Aurilio was in the area at the time and took Rogers into custody a short time later.

Police said they found television sets and recorders in Rogers' car, parked in front of the store.

In a separate incident earlier in the day, a lone male, with a derringer, robbed the Westlake Olympic Station at 2165 Junipero Serra Blvd. of less than $100, and took the wallet of the attendant, a 16-year-old San Francisco youth, police report.

Colma, Broadmoor Oppose DC Annex

The Colma Fire Protection and the Broadmoor Police districts Wednesday opposed any move to annex a quarter-acre parcel from the districts to Daly City.

At a Local Agency Formation Commission hearing in Redwood City, Theodore Kirchner, chairman of the fire district board, called any action to detach the property "piecemeal annexation," which he claimed would open the door to hundreds of similar moves.

Rodney A. Catalano, owner of a quarter-acre parcel at the southeast corner of 87th Avenue and Washington Street, requested LAFCO to detach his property from the districts and annex it to Daly City so he could build an eight-unit apartment house.

Catalano said Daly City's zoning and not the county's is compatible with his plans for building. He also said it would cost him less in city services if his land

Kirchner told the commission that Catalano could settle his zoning problems with the county Planning

Bamboo Pole Used in Fight

A man who allegedly assaulted his neighbor with a "deadly weapon," namely a 7.5-foot bamboo pole, was arrested in Burlingame Sunday night.

Mohamed Faisal Darwazeh, 32, 937 Rollins Road, posted $5,000 bail.

Police said Darwazeh is accused of attacking Stephen M. English, 933 Rollins Road, with the pole after angry words were exchanged in the apartment house

English received 10 stitches to close a head wound and 12 to close a cut in the right thumb.

Jeff Budget Study

Jefferson Union High School District Board of Trustees has received the first draft of a proposed $16,033,518 budget for

This is not a shopper's budget. It's a tight budget," Dr. Robert Watt, assistant superintendent in charge of business operations, said Wednesday.

"It's basically the same kind of budget we've been living with for the past few vears," he added.

Proposed expenditures and appropriations for contingencies are up $500,669 from the current budget's total of $15,532,849.

Projected income is also slated to increase $192,712 from the current total of $15,532,849 to $15,725,561.

However, Watt is the first to point out that the income increase will not keep pace with the projected rise in expenditures.

He emphasized one figure to board members recently - $307,957, which is the amount of budgeted expenditures in excess of projected income.

Watt noted the latter amount will be the prime target for the budget work sessions the board will hold in the months ahead.

The board will look at all the budgetary expendi-tures to see what can possi-bly be eliminated," Watt said

By law, the board must adopt a budget for the coming fiscal year in the first eight days of August. Last minute changes are usually made during the first part of July.

Although expenditures are slated to go up in the budget proposal, the general fund tax rate will go down — from $2.76 to a projected $2.69.

Watt explained that the tax rate is determined by several factors, including Average Daily Attendance (ADA) figures

Since attendance is drop-ping due to widespread enrollment declines, the district tax rate cannot be

However, a recent reassessment of property in several localities will mean an anticipated increase of over four per cent in assessed valuation, so this factor will help to offset the lower tax rate.«

Watt anticipates 1977-78 federal income at $319,000, state income at $3,736,116, county income at $470,188 and local income at $10,915,257. The totals include both adult school and general enrollment.

Increases in expenditures will be seen in the areas of salary increases for teachers (still being negotiated), increased health and retirement benefits for teachers, utility costs and purchase of two new school buses, Watt said
